PROGRAM REVIEW POLICY

I. Policy Statement and Purpose

This policy establishes Athens State University's commitment to conduct a comprehensive review of all academic programs (undergraduate and graduate) every five years.

The University's primary goal for program review is to systematically evaluate every element of academic programs, comprising curriculum, student achievement, resources, the competitive environment, and stakeholder perceptions of the program in order to identify strengths and weaknesses and propose changes and improvements as deemed necessary. At the end of the review process, departments will be better prepared to make informed decisions regarding the optimization of resources to increase efficiency while maintaining and/or improving the highest level of quality in all academic programs.

For the purpose of this policy, the University defines a program as a prescribed plan of study, within an academic department, characterized by a set of structured and coherent courses within a recognized field of study under a designated Classification of Instructional Programs (CIP) code.

II. Depth and Scope of Program Review

The Academic Program Review will be comprehensive and focused on the overall effectiveness of the program and department in supporting the University's mission as it relates to:

- the quality of the learning and teaching environment in both undergraduate and graduate programs;
- adequacy and effective utilization of resources by the academic program; and the program's service to the university and its external constituencies.

Review criteria will include: 1) cost-benefit criteria; 2) program input and outputs, and 3) organizational effectiveness.

III. Program Review Process

Program reviews are to be performed internally by the Dean, department head, and faculty members. The program review cycle begins in August and ends in May. Following the scheduled timeline for program review, the responsible Dean will appoint an external reviewer from outside the University from the program area who is qualified to evaluate the relative strengths and weaknesses of the program.

The review process integrates internal evaluation needs, including program development and strategic planning consistent with accrediting and regulatory bodies. The Office of Institutional Research and Assessment (OIRA) will provide institutional data for each program in support of the review process.

The provisions, requirements, documentation, and schedule for review of all academic programs (undergraduate and graduate) are contained in the Academic Program Review Procedures and Guidelines accompanying document.

Completed program review reports will be maintained in the Provost/Vice President for Academic Affairs and Student Services Office.
