CAMPUS SECURITY PROCEDURES AND CAMPUS CRIME STATISTICS

Under university policy, Athens State University procedures have been established to comply with The Campus Awareness and Campus Security Act of 1990 (Title II of Public Law 101-542) and Section 16-22-1, Code of Alabama 1975, as amended by Act 2013-191, 2013 Regular Session. Inquiries regarding the information contained herein should be directed to the Vice President of Financial Affairs, Business Office - Founders Hall, Room 109. 256-216-3303 or extension 303.

A. REPORTING CRIMINAL ACTIONS OR OTHER EMERGENCIES

1. It is the procedure of Athens State University that any criminal act or threat of violence, including hate crimes, domestic violence, dating violence, sexual assault or stalking, injury, destruction of university or personal property, traffic accidents or other situations which occur on the main campus, any branch of campus, or any other site operated by Athens State University and which may constitute an emergency, a danger to the health, safety or property of any person, or a threat to the public be reported immediately to Campus Security. The Security Office is in the house just south of Founders Hall. The phone number is 256-233-8222. Athens State University security officers are on duty 24 hours, seven days a week.
2. All witnesses to any situation which fits into any of the above described categories shall make themselves available to give written statements and otherwise assist university officials and law enforcement officers in the investigation of the situation. It shall be an offense subject to appropriate disciplinary action for any Athens State University employee or student to file a false report or knowingly make a false statement about or interfere with the investigation of any situation of nature described in the preceding paragraph.
3. It shall be the duty of the University, upon its designated official or officials being made aware of any situation of a nature described in Paragraph A.1. above to immediately take all reasonable action to prevent or minimize any harm or threat of harm to the employees, students and visitors of Athens State University. Furthermore, it shall be the duty of said official(s) to notify the appropriate law enforcement agency in the event of an act of a criminal nature or any other nature (for example a traffic accident) which would ordinarily involve law enforcement officials. Additionally, it shall be the duty of said official(s) to contact the appropriate fire department, emergency medical agency, or other authority or agency which is due to be notified of the respective incident. The university prohibits retaliation against anyone who exercises his or her rights or responsibilities in reporting any criminal act, and will exercise appropriate disciplinary action for any such retaliation.
4. If you are a victim of a sexual assault at this institution, your first priority should be to get to a place of safety. You should then obtain necessary medical treatment. The Campus Security Office strongly advises that a victim of sexual assault report the incident in a timely manner. Time is a critical factor for evidence collection and preservation. Do not bathe or douche, do not eat or have anything to drink, and try not to urinate if possible. Go to the hospital emergency room as medical attention is vital, and you may have injuries of which you are unaware. If you have changed clothes, place them in a paper bag as the clothes may be used as evidence. An assault should be reported to Campus Security. Filing a report with a Campus Security Officer will not obligate the victim to prosecute, nor will it subject the victim to scrutiny or judgmental opinions from officers. University disciplinary proceedings, as well as special guidelines for cases involving sexual misconduct, are detailed in the Student Code of Conduct and Disciplinary Procedures as well as the Harassment and Discrimination Policy and Procedures and the Sexual Misconduct Policy which may be found in the Policy Library.

B. SECURITY OF AND ACCESS TO CAMPUS FACILITIES

Athens State University is security conscious, and the safety of our students, faculty, staff and visitors is a high priority. The following is a description of conditions relating to access and security of its facilities. Athens State University's main campus contains approximately thirty-five (35) acres and is located near the business district of Athens, Alabama. The campus is accessible from three sides by public streets. The campus is lighted at night. Each campus building (including elevators) is equipped with emergency call boxes. In addition, there are also several exterior call boxes. Athens State Security is dialed when using these call boxes.

See section A.1 for security hours and means of contacting security. Athens State University uniformed security officers carry firearms and patrol the campus on foot and by patrol vehicle. Security officers turn in a written report on any safety or security problems encountered during their shift. Additional security is added by the Athens Police Department who make routine patrols of the campus and vicinity. Criminal offenses are referred to the Athens Police Department who have jurisdiction on campus through a Memorandum of Understanding with Athens State University Security. All crime victims and witnesses are strongly encouraged to immediately report crimes to Athens State Security who will report to Athens Police Department if necessary. Prompt reporting will assure timely warning notices on campus and timely disclosure of crime statistics.

Campus buildings are controlled by an access control system. Buildings are locked after evening classes and opened prior to morning classes. Buildings remain locked on weekends and holidays unless classes or other events are scheduled.

Redstone Arsenal classes are offered on the military complex. These facilities come under the control of the Military Police and are patrolled by them.

C. CAMPUS LAW ENFORCEMENT PRACTICES

It is the practice of Athens State University that all persons who enter and utilize its facilities must comply with all federal, state and local ordinances. In addition, Campus Security will enforce orders of protections, no contact orders, restraining or similar orders issued by a criminal, civil or tribal court if these orders have been reported by the victim to Campus Security. Students, faculty and staff are also required to comply with the rules and regulations set forth in the Athens State University Catalog and Handbook. Violations reported or otherwise detected will be completely investigated and submitted to proper authorities for prosecution, and other deportation.

D. CAMPUS PROGRAMS ON SECURITY AND SAFETY

Athens State University communicates with students, faculty and staff in a variety of methods to enhance security and safety. Security officers provide visibility and patrol on foot. Security officers maintain a regular check on fire extinguishers and other safety devices. Security also provides assistance to those on campus with vehicle problems.

To enhance the protection of lives and property during major emergency situations such as fire, severe weather or other crisis, an Emergency Management Plan has been developed and distributed to all faculty and staff. This plan may be found online under the Campus Security section of the Athens State website. Hard copies may be requested from the Athens State Security Office.
