Mathematics, Computer Science, and Natural Science majors provide tutoring and general assistance for 300-level courses and a limited number of 400-level courses in mathematics, computer science, information technology, and biology taken at Athens State University. (Help with biology is available during the fall and spring semesters.) Let our qualified tutors assist you by providing courteous and knowledgeable service at the Math, Computer Science, and Natural Science (MCNS) Learning Lab this semester. Some of the majors are especially able to assist you with your CS 305/317/318/372 course needs. There are some upper level courses for which assistance can be sought, but contact the MCNS Lab or visit the MCNS Lab Website for specific time slots for programming help. Although MCNS Learning Lab employees CANNOT assist with completion of graded assessments, quizzes or tests, they CAN provide tutoring in specific topics.

Current ASU MCNS Learning Lab key notes:

- ∞ We have traditional face-to-face on-campus tutoring available at the MCNS Learning Lab facilities in Waters Room S-202 and remote tutoring services available.
- ∞ Evening hours are generally available Monday through Thursday, but exceptions occur depending upon staff availability.
- ∞ VERY IMPORTANT NOTE: Information about how to obtain tutoring may be found at <https://www.athens.edu/resources/academic/mcns-learning-lab/>. Feel free to schedule an appointment from this webpage if desired. Students electing onsite, face-to-face tutoring may simply show up at the Learning Lab in Waters S-202. The tutoring schedule, the delivery method (online or in-person), and the subject matter for which each tutor specializes are located on this same webpage.
- ∞ While the Learning Lab is generally open from 10 a.m. - 9 p.m. on Monday through Thursday and 10 a.m. - 4 p.m. on Friday, the tutorial schedule may vary slightly from this operational schedule. Students may feel free to use the MCNS Learning Lab resources even if a tutor is not present.
