

Library Study Rooms Procedures

The Athens State University Library has two group study rooms available on a first-come, first-served basis. Current Athens State students and employees may reserve the room by speaking with Library Circulation Desk employees at 256-216-6669, or the rooms may be reserved by completing the online form at http://athens.libcal.com/booking/room_reservations.

Each room accommodates one to six people and is equipped with a white board, chairs, and a table. Study rooms are available free of charge.

Regulations on the Use of Study Rooms:

- Only Athens State University students, faculty, staff and students from reciprocal institutions may use the rooms.
 - Study rooms are not to be used for social functions or “for profit” individuals or groups soliciting or selling products or services (including but not limited to paid tutors, home product sales, or professional services).
- Photo identification is required for use of the rooms.
- Group reservations have priority over individual registration.
- Library personnel will lock and unlock the study rooms.
- Study rooms are only open during scheduled Library hours of operation.
 - Study room use is scheduled in one-hour blocks.
 - A maximum of three, one-hour blocks is allowed per day.
 - Reservations will be canceled if users are over 10 minutes late for the reservation time.
 - Group study rooms will close 15 minutes prior to building closure.
- Study room users must maintain a moderate noise level. Rooms are not soundproof.
- Markers may be available at the circulation desk, but the library cannot guarantee availability. Patrons are encouraged to bring their own.
