HIRING AND RECRUITMENT

I. Purpose

In support of the mission of the institution, the University fosters an environment that attracts and cultivates a talented, qualified, and competitive workforce. Through the Office of Human Resources, the University follows policies and procedures when filling all vacancies with the goal of conducting a search that will yield the best possible candidate for the position. All efforts to fill vacancies (exempt, non-exempt, faculty, staff, and administrative) are directed toward choosing the best-suited individual based on professional qualifications, personal integrity, and equal opportunity and equal access considerations. This policy and the Procedures for Hiring and Recruitment are to be followed to complete the search/hiring process in an efficient and effective manner.

II. Equal Opportunity and Non-Discrimination

No employee or applicant for employment or promotion shall be discriminated against on the basis of any legally impermissible criterion or characteristic, including, without limitation, race, sex, or age. Athens State University is an equal opportunity employer.

III. Recruitment

Athens State University strives to recruit outstanding administrators, faculty, and staff to create an overall climate that welcomes all types of demographics of persons regardless of their race, color, religion, sex, national origin, or other characteristics protected by law. The immediate goal is twofold: (1) to broaden the recruitment net to include a wide range of highly qualified candidates; 2) to keep track of recruitment efforts and outcomes to demonstrate our commitment to building and maintaining a qualified workforce.

IV. Internal Searches, Lateral Transfers, and Job Reorganization/Modification

Normally, all positions are filled following an advertised search process as described in the Procedures for Hiring and Recruitment. In certain instances, however, Athens State University may elect to limit the search process for a vacant position to internal applicants to fill a vacancy with a transfer, or to reorganize/modify a position without the creation of a vacancy.

V. Accommodations for Disabilities

Title I of the Americans with Disabilities Act of 1990 makes it unlawful for an employer to discriminate against a qualified applicant or employee with a disability. The University will provide reasonable accommodations for applicants with disabilities to be considered for job openings (unless in the case of undue hardship). The University will work to ensure that qualified individuals with disabilities have the same opportunity as all other applicants to be considered fairly for positions at the University.

VI. Background Checks

A background check will be performed by the University (or an outside vendor at the University's expense) on candidates who are selected for potential employment by the University. Background Checks and Self-Disclosure of Criminal Conviction.

Candidates for employment and positions will be advised that, prior to being selected, the candidate must successfully pass a background check. Candidates must complete an authorization form. Failure to timely complete an authorization may result in termination of the University's consideration of the candidate's application for or other pursuit of a position. Falsification or omission of information may result in the denial of employment.

All offers for employment for a position are contingent upon a background check that is acceptable to the University.

VII. Reference Checks

Reference checks will be conducted and documented via the online employment system through the Office of Human Resources. It is suggested that the references be checked before the on-campus interview takes place.

VIII. Offer of Employment

All offers of employment must be approved by the President of the University. If the President approves the hire, the appropriate Vice President or designee, along with the Chief Human Resources Officer, will extend a job offer to the selected candidate based on the approved parameters of the offer (relocation, tenure, and other special employment conditions).
